

Dear Editor . . .

Editor,
It would be unforgivable for me to leave Gardena high school for the last time without saying a sincere and heartfelt "thank you" for the countless courtesies extended to us by you and your people.
I have found the local press incredibly cooperative at all times. You cannot imagine what a tremendous comfort such cooperation can be to the administrator of a high school.

Please accept my kindest regards and gratitude.
Cordially yours,
ATTILIO G. PARISI,
Principal.

DEAR EDITOR . . .

Regrets Loss of PV College

Editor, Torrance Press,
By this time, no doubt you are aware of the closing of your area college—Palos Verdes College.

I am a student at Palos Verdes College and it is naturally with much deep sorrow that I write this letter. But deeper than my personal sorrow and the shocked thoughts of others is the realization that this is not just the problem of Palos Verdes College, but is symptomatic of something much, much deeper.

The loss of Palos Verdes College is a tragic personal loss to many people—alumni, students, faculty, administration, and friends.

It is a loss to the community. It is a loss to the area, but more than this it is a loss to education. This event is part of the funeral dirge of the private colleges all over the nation. It is the sound of death creeping up on educational progress, not progressive education, but progress in education.

Palos Verdes College has done much good, most of it not measurable materially, and in my heart I feel sure that this good will not be allowed to disappear—I am confident of a newer, better Palos Verdes College because of this experience, if not this September, then the September after that, or the one after that.

But if it is deemed that Palos Verdes College shall not come back, even in death it will do good, it might possibly save another private college from the same fate, and it might, I hope, jar the people out of their lethargy and into realizing that education is a cooperative function.

Sincerely yours,
(s) MIKE MCGEE

Dear Sir:
I would greatly appreciate having the enclosed letter published so the American housewife can become better acquainted with conditions that exist among the fishermen of Southern California.

My husband is not a fisherman, nor does our income depend in any way on the fishing industry. I have examined this condition and can sympathize with these people.

I am sure if more people were aware of this problem, they would certainly try to help these families.

This is an open letter of appeal to all housewives from the families of the fishermen of Southern California.

THESE PEOPLE STAND TO LOSE THEIR ONLY MEANS OF SUPPORT.

Southern California canneries are buying unlimited quantities of tuna from Japan which are canned the same way as our local tuna, but in no way marked Japanese tuna. Trade with other nations is vital, but not when it gets to the point of jeopardizing American standards of living. The Japanese fisherman earns $30 a month. Can we expect Americans to live on this?

In 1954 the average American fisherman earned only $3200. In 1948 the import was only 8.6 per cent. Today it has climbed to 55 per cent, a 46.4 per cent increase in only seven years. This tremendous import of tuna is affecting the entire fishing industry. The fishermen are more than happy to agree to a logical quota thereby supporting American and Japanese fishermen.

It is up to YOU, the American housewife, who is the backbone of our economical system to help these people by not buying this tuna, unless it is labeled a product of Japan or America.

Signed: MRS. ANA GURGENTI

Editor:

We feel that your staff is somewhat uncertain as to what name or portion of our name to use in the banner for our articles.

Since the merger of the Evangelical church and the United Brethren in Christ into the Evangelical United Brethren church we have been using the first initial of each of the three words to designate the denomination in much of our publicity.

Our constituency knows and understands the meaning and the body of the article usually carries the full name so, if you wish, you may feel free to use "E.U.B. Church . . ." in your headings. This would also avoid confusion with the Brethren church which is a separate and distinct denomination.

Please accept our appreciation for your faithful rendition of the copy we send you week to week and for giving us space on your church page. We have received many expressions of appreciation from our members who realize that they may read about our church in your paper because of your generosity.

Sincerely yours,
DAVID J. LYNCH

Editor,

We appreciate very much the space given us on your front page concerning our street-sweeping problem here in Victoria park. Your explanation of the situation helped many of the people in this community to understand that it was their problem to solve collectively and that everybody will have to cooperate in order to keep our streets clean. We have noticed that fewer cars have been parked on our streets this week and we feel sure that it was due to the publicity last week concerning the situation.

However, the Los Angeles county road department must meet us halfway on this problem if it is to be solved to the satisfaction of everyone concerned. We want to make it easier for them to sweep the streets, but they must set a certain day of the week so that the people here will know when to expect the street sweeper. That is the only way that the people of this community can cooperate by moving their cars off the streets on that particular day.

Sincerely,
LESTER C. DICKSON

Students In Fund Drive For College

In an effort to forestall the closing of Palos Verdes College, alumni and students of the school are working this week to raise funds to keep the school in operation for at least another year, according to Miss Sally Hix, a sophomore student at the college last year.

Two students left by air for the East where they hope to raise the necessary funds. Jerry Thompson and Pete McHugh plan to see Henry Luce, publisher of Time, Life and Fortune, and Vincent Astor, publisher of Newsweek, as well as others.

Alumni and students throughout the Southland have collected almost $20,000 in pledges since Friday, when the plan to close the college was first known.

Miss Hix said that $150,000 is needed if the school is to reopen. She pointed out that time is short, as the funds must be raised by the end of this week. Unlike public colleges and

Kiwanis Club Hears Officer

A newly formed Torrance area Hot Rod club was the subject of a talk by Hugh Ingram of the Torrance police department, at the meeting of the Kiwanis club of Torrance, on Monday, August 15.

Ingram, in discussing his work with the organization, announced that the Hot Rod club has over 60 active members and has applications for 100 more which it cannot accept at the present.

W. E. Bowen - Insurance

When you are sick you call a doctor, when you need legal advice you call a lawyer, and when you need insurance, call W. E. Bowen. Once you have had that fire or accident it is too late to cover the loss. Now before you have trouble is the time to pick a good reliable agent, representing a well founded company to set up your insurance needs. The agent we recommend for any and all your needs is W. E. Bowen Insurance Co., at 1327 Post, next to Roth's market.

The men of this firm know insurance in all its intricate phases and complex forms. They will be more than willing to go over your present coverage and recommend any changes that are necessary from the standpoint of fully protecting what you have worked hard to own. It is possible the insurance you now carry is inadequate to cover the rising valuation of your property. Check this by a call to FA. 8-7655. We recommend them to one and all for any insurance problem.—Adv.
