Greene At Work Currently In Two TV Productions

Joe Greene, well-known character actor and manager of the Harbor Drive Inn Theater, is currently on location with two forthcoming TV productions.

They are "Ambush" of the Wild Bill Hickok series with Andy Divine and Guy Madison seen Sunday afternoons over KTLA and "Gang Busters" which will start September 19.

Greene plays the role of a barrel manufacturer in "Ambush" and the driver of a getaway car in a bank robbery in "Gang Busters."

He may be seen presently in a film, "Francis in the Navy," in which he plays the head of a Senate investigating committee.

Greene is on location two full days a week but he is not worried about getting his scripts mixed up, even though he is working on two different productions.

"I portray two entirely different characters," he says by way of explanation, winking his eye. "In one picture I am one level below a devil and in the other one I am a devil."
