HOSPITAL CHAPLAIN ACTS AS INTERPRETER

Chaplain John J. Penner of the Harbor General hospital added a new duty to his responsibilities as a minister early Friday morning—that of interpreter.

He aided physicians during a three-hour procedure by acting as interpreter between the doctors and the patient who speaks German but not English. Rev. Penner, who also speaks German, stood by to give directions while physicians performed a right-heart catheterization on Mrs. Teresa Eichhorn, 43, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Eichhorn, who was born in Yugoslavia, fled the Communists by going to Germany, coming to the United States recently, together with her husband and two sons.

Purpose of Friday's procedure was to check the results of a recent heart operation.

A local anesthetic is given because the patient must remain awake in order to cooperate with the physicians.

The procedure, which was first performed in 1929 and has been common for the last 10 years, calls for a plastic tube which is passed through the vein into the heart, from there through the arteries leading to the lung.
