

Six Students in Class Come from Other Nations

Four continents and two islands are represented during the daily roll call of a single English class on the campus of El Camino College.

Something of a United Nations atmosphere prevails in the class of 38, where 6 students represent areas outside the United States and one is an unofficial ambassador-at-large. Another, concentrating on the home front, has served for the past year as a teacher to the Indians in Arizona.

Such a large concentration of students representing areas outside the continental United States is unusual. The total enrollment of foreign students constitutes less than one per cent of the total enrollment of El Camino.

The six are Virello Del Rio from Columbia, Minn. Gay Quan and Min Sang Quan from Hong Kong, Miss Mary Lumkin from the British Isles, Miss Elizabeth Patterson from the Philippine Islands and Antonio Almondia from Hawaii. All were born or have become naturalized citizens of the United States.

"Ambassador-at-large" is Robert Mobley, a resident of Hermosa Beach, whose paddleboard has figuratively taken him to Hawaii, Mexico, Australia, and South America. Mobley's hobby and number one recreational pursuit has also become a means of self-support in the quest of an education. He is working his way through college by making and selling paddleboards.

Coming to El Camino to fortify her background in many of the basic subjects preparatory to becoming a teacher for foreign missions of the Catholic church, Miss Anita Halstead has already completed one year as a teacher of the native Indians of Arizona.

Del Rio, who left the South American republic of Columbia in 1952, on gaining sponsorship by a brother-in-law, Marvin Anderson, of Hermosa Beach, came to the United States with no knowledge of the English language.

The Quan brothers and their mother arrived in this country from Hong Kong three months ago. Although they speak English with great difficulty and understand best when addressed slowly, they have mastered the technical aspects of the language and are among the top students of grammar enrolled in the class.

Another citizen of the USA, Miss Lumkin reflects her British background in her handwriting and charming accent. She was born in New York City, but went to England in 1938 with her mother and two sisters. With the outbreak of World War II, the four moved to Ireland, where they made their home for seven years. In 1947, the attractive blond coed entered nurses' training in England, graduating in 1951.

Also interested in the field of nursing, Miss Patterson came to the country on the announcement of the United States that all American citizens would be enabled to return during the war years. Miss Patterson, whose grandfather was an American citizen, came from Manila with her family in May, 1945.

Majoring in nursing, the coed plans to attend the University of California at Los Angeles next spring. She is a graduate of Torrance High School. An avid skii diver and hunter, Almondia left the Hawaiian Islands to study at Northrop Aeronautical Institute, where he graduated as an aircraft and engine mechanic. He is now extending his work as a student of El Camino, studying to become an electronic technician.

New Stamp Hails Forestry Service

The 4-cent Forest Conservation commemorative stamp, which goes on first-day sale on October 27, at Tucson, Arizona at the Annual Meeting of the American Forestry Association, will be printed in three colors on the Giori press in yellow, brown, and green. The stamp, 0.84 by 1.14 inches, arranged vertically, features the major aspects of forest conservation, including new growth of young trees and the harvesting of mature timber under scientific forest management; home and shelter for wildlife and birds; and protected watersheds.

This first forest conservation stamp is history commemorates the 100th anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt, one of the earliest forest conservationists in the country. It also salutes the many private and public agencies which have played a large part in the progress made in the protection and wise use of the Nation's natural resources.
