

Nickels Ranch to Host Teens' Hawaiian Party

Sarongs, muu mus, surfers and bermudas will mark an evening of Luau fun when Hideout Hi Teens celebrates its third annual Hawaiian dinner-dance, August 27, from 6 p.m. to midnight at Nickel's Ranch.

Limited to 150 guests this year, the cost for the evening of teenage fun will run $1 for Hi Teen members and $1.50 for non-members. Bus transportation, dinner, dancing, swimming, entertainment and a free lei or straw hat will be included in the price.

Mrs. William Czuleger will cater the refreshments that will include baked ham, baked fish, octopus, potato salad, baked beans, bread, fresh pineapple, coconuts, bananas, punch and exotic appetizers.

Guests will be transported from the Hideout Youth Canteen to the luau and back. Entertainment at the affair will include Samoan dancers.

Along with the Hawaiian party clothes those who wish to swim should bring their swim suits and towels.

Tickets for the affair will be available at the Youth Canteen tomorrow. The canteen is located at 222 N. Pacific Coast Highway, Redondo Beach.

DINNER CLUB LUAU plans were discussed by (from left, seated) Dr. J. H. Hull and Dick Pyle and (standing) Mmes. Dean Sears and J. H. Hull when they met informally at the Hull home, 1730 Hickory Ave., to compare costumes for the coming event, slated next Saturday evening for the Polynesian Restaurant.

Tips on Dressmaking Slated for Broadway

Miss Peggy MacDonald, Educational Representative of the McCall Pattern Company, will be in the fabric department of the Broadway-Del Amo Saturday, August 22nd from 9:00 to 5:30 p.m.

Peggy MacDonald is a former teacher from the State of California. She has a degree in Apparel Design from the University of California at Los Angeles and has done graduate study in Education and Home Economics at Sacramento State College. She has taught homemaking classes in both junior and senior high schools, as well as teaching clothing design and selection to college students.

Miss MacDonald, of course, makes her own clothes, and is particularly interested in working with teen-age girls. She will be at the Broadway Del Amo for individual consultation. No question is too simple and no problem too great. She specializes in analyzing personal figure problems, and can tell home dressmakers how to sew quickly and beautifully as well as how to plan a coordinated costume and interpret the new fashions for Fall.

Newlyweds at Home in Inglewood Following Honeymoon in Monterey

Following their recent honeymoon in Monterey, newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen Radke, are now at home at 928 W. Conellas Ave., Inglewood. Wedding ceremonies uniting the couple were held July 31 at the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection with Rev. John Lundberg officiating at the double ring ceremonies.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Demaree, 405 Paseo de las Estrellas, was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a Chantilly lace gown fashioned with a Queen Anne collar, fitted bodice and long sleeves for the occasion. Her Queen crown held an illusion veil and she carried a sunburst bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Serving the bride as maid of honor was Miss Thurman Hester. Miss Margo Nagle acted as bridesmaid. Both attendants wore identical gowns of white dotted Swiss over taffeta with aqua cumberbunds and carried cascade bouquets of gardenias. Their headpieces were fashioned of circlets of white carnations with short attached aqua veils.

The bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Radke of Montana was served by Thurman Hester as best man. Ushers were, Donald Baue and Gary Demaree, the bride's brother.

Following the wedding a reception honoring the newlyweds was held at the church.

The bride attended Long Beach State College upon graduation from Torrance High School.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Sidney High School in Montana and attended Northern Montana college. He served four years with the United States Air Force and is now studying at the Northrop Institute of Technology.
