

Cancer Society Offers Booklet Free to Public

A revised version of a 68-page booklet prepared by the American Cancer Society for use in high school health courses will be distributed to the general public, it was announced today by John N. Langfiitt, District Eight Cancer Crusade chairman. Formerly it was available only for classroom use. Called "Youth Looks at Cancer," the publication contains 20 illustrations and charts. Eighteen earlier editions have been studied by an estimated 1,300,000 pupils during the past 20 years.

The booklet reviews the biology of cancer, possible causes of the disease, its detection and treatment, and up-to-date information on research progress.
