Warrior Thespians Will Present Children's Play

"Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp," a play for children, will be presented in the Campus Theater of El Camino College June 1, 2, 3, and 4.

The play, directed by Howard M. Banks, is the story of Aladdin, the young hero from Scheherazade's "Thousand and One Nights," whose adventures have delighted children throughout the world.

Summer Reading Clinic Available

Guidance Associates will again sponsor a summer reading clinic in the South Bay area. The program is limited to small groups of children (or adults) who are retarded in reading. The reading staff is composed of educators with successful experience in the fields of education, speech correction, or school psychology. An approach calling upon various skills and items of equipment is used in working with the slow readers.

The reading program is under the direction of W. J. Brodsky. Brodsky was a classroom teacher for four years and a school psychologist since 1953. He has worked in the field of corrective and remedial reading since 1954 and is currently completing a research inventory which will enable potentially good readers to be identified at the kindergarten level.

An ability to read well plays an important part in determining success, mediocrity or failure in today's highly competitive society. In today's world, the ability to read and an education are a necessity. The non-reader finds school neither profitable nor satisfying. As a result, many young adults of normal or above normal learning ability become school drop-outs and reduce their chances of economic success. How much more might each of us achieved if we were better readers?

Research studies have shown that a reading disability can cause or re-enforce existing emotional instability. In a recent project endorsed by the California State Department of Education, a group of non or slow reading boys and girls, also having emotional problems, were given specialized remedial help in reading two hours a week for two school years. As these children learned to read, their behavior improved.

Not all poor readers are able to profit by specialized help. There are certain people who never do learn to read well. However, many non-readers can gain by specialized reading instruction if qualified help is available.

CHILDREN INVITED

Tickets are 50c each and are on sale at the campus book store at El Camino and will be available in the theater box office. There are no reserved seats. Children and adults of all ages are invited.

The children's fantasy includes dancing girls, beggar boys, and the princess Badrubadur, with whom young Aladdin falls in love. The slave of the lamp, merchants in the market-place, the wazier (an official of the sultan), and Scheherazade, the story teller, make this last effort of the theater arts department a major production.

Double-cast, the play will star Jeff Selwyn and Noel Shire as Aladdin. The co-stars will share the spotlight for the four performances.

Other main characters in the production will be Gail Wilkins and Tesse Tinker, portraying Aladdin's mother, Sandra Hayes and Marlene Cunningham as Scheherazade, Ron Murphy and David Pritchard as the Slave of the Lamp, and Michele Smith and Christa Fletcher as the Princess Badrubadur. Nuphsed will be personified by Shirley Turk and Saralee Murma for all performances.
