

Rabbis Express Sympathy With Negroes' Racial Strife

The Board of Rabbis of Southern California, through its president, Rabbi Marvin Bornstein, of the Westchester Jewish Congregation, today issued the following statement in regard to the racial strife in Los Angeles:

"We, the Board of Rabbis of Southern California, representing the religious leadership of the Jewish community — Conservative, Orthodox and Reform — express our profound sympathy with the Negro community in Greater Los Angeles in its struggle to achieve full emancipation and equality in our midst.

"As Jewish religious teachers we are deeply concerned about the problems of discrimination and injustice which afflict our Negro neighbors. Our own history of suffering from prejudice and persecution has made us particularly sensitive to the plight of oppressed peoples everywhere.

"Our moral principles and way of life, drawn from the sacred texts of the Jewish religion — the Bible and the Talmud — move us to speak out at this time, as the ancient Hebrew prophets spoke out in their generation against the indignities imposed upon any group in our society.

"We call upon the political, civic, business and labor leaders of this great metropolitan center to act with dispatch in answer to the grievances voiced by Negro leaders through eliminating segregation and inequality in the social, educational and economic spheres of community life.

"We call upon the members of our congregations to act in all their business and social contacts with their fellow citizens in the Negro community in accordance with the moral imperatives of our religious tradition.

"We call upon every individual in the Los Angeles Jewish community to note that by a proper attitude and conduct toward his Negro neighbors he can make an important personal contribution towards solving the most serious moral problem confronting the American people in our generation."
