Rocket Flare Show Slated At Airport

A safety and survival program will be presented by Genrus Engineering Corp. at the South Bay Pilot's Hangar meeting tomorrow at the Walteria Park Recreation Building.

During the meeting there will be a demonstration of the "Maday Rocket Flare" in the air space over the runway area of the Torrance Municipal Airport. The flares, manufactured by Genrus, are launched by rocket, lighted at varied altitudes and descend by parachute. The flares are designed to provide visibility for the landing of aircraft at night on an unlighted field.

The Hangar Sessions meeting is open to the public. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and adjourn before 10 p.m. The flare demonstration, weather permitting, will be held at approximately 8:45 p.m.
