By Mike Connolly

Dear Mike: Is it true Peter O'Toole never sees any of his movies, as I read somewhere, because he can't stand the sight of himself? — Wanda Toriello, Joliet, Ill.

Dear Wanda: It may be now but it wasn't when I first met him — at the Hollywood premiere of "Lawrence of Arabia." He seemed to be enjoying it, and his own performance in it, very much.

Dear Mike: Why did Vince Edwards and Kathy Kersh break up so soon after their wards household again, marriage? — Elinor W. Fries, San Leandro, Calif.

Dear Elinor: Vince found it tough, after his years of free-and-easy bachelorhood, adapting himself to the domestic pipe-and-slippers bit. But then came Kathy's announcement of her impending motherhood (revealed with her lawsuit seeking to divorce the father-to-be) so now everything is blissful in the Ed-Yes, they've reconciled.

Dear Sir: What happened to the Shirley Temple TV series you wrote about several months ago? Did she move away from Hollywood because it was a flop? — Pete Limon, Seaford, N.Y.

Dear Pete: The sponsors seemed more interested in such doubtful new shows as Juliet Prowse's "Meet Mona McCluskey" than in Shirley's "Go Fight City Hall." She didn't live here when she shot the pilot and hasn't lived here for many years. She considers Northern California a more sensible place to bring up her children and she may be right.

Mike C.: Please, who was Douglas Fairbank's Jr.'s mother? I have forgotten the name of Doug Sr.'s wife, before he married Mary Pickford. — Helen Nixon, Newport Beach, Calif.

Dear Helen: Beth Sully is the name. After divorcing Doug Sr., she married Jack Whiting.

Dear Mike: It's been just a year or so ago since Hollywood was touting Sue Lyon as hottest thing since the invention of the wheel, now we seldom read or hear a thing about our everlovin' little ol' "Lolita"! Wha'ppen? — Ben L. Ryan, Lincoln, Park, Mich.

Dear Ben: Sue and her agent have turned down many parts because they didn't consider them important enough for the star of "Lolita." They're still reading scripts, however, so don't count Sue out. After all, Marie Dressler was a start most of her life but never reached the top peak until she was 60.

Dear Mike: — WOW — at last a new series that doesn't insult our intelligence! Congratulations to Burl Ives, Abe Burrows and everyone connected with "Okay Crackerby!" — and WHO is that ugly-handsome man who plays the children's tutor? — Judy Asher, Jamaica, N.Y.

Dear Judy: You left out Rod Amateau, the director who guided "Dobie Gillis" into the top ratings and now seems to be repeating with "Crackerby." But I agree with you about the tutor, Hal Buckley, who gives promise of becoming one of our top comedians.

Dear Sir: Where will Carol Channing be staying when she brings "Hello, Dolly!" here to her home town? I want to write for her autograph. — Geneva McElroy, San Francisco, Calif.

Dear Geneva: Wherever it is, her hotel suite will have to be air-conditioned because of her allergies. But why wait? A letter addressed to her in care of the Music Center, Los Angeles, will reach her now.

Dear Sir: Does Gene Barry go around kissing girls off TV? I think the way he does it on his show is absolutely disgusting. — Sallie Coolidge, Lincoln, Mass.

Dear Sallie: No, he does not. He's a happily married man. He does it on television because his producers think it enhances his romantic image. (Mike Connolly will try to answer your questions in his column but gives no personal replies by mail.)
