"golden boy" Art Aragon only Ted has his own teeth, ears, etc., etc. On his worst day, Ted could do a wheat-germ commercial that would make Mr. America look like he needed a Tirend. Anyway, he swung his 182 lb. high-protein frame into a chair, ordered his favorite drink, not Geritol on the rocks but pasteurized prune juice and began to tell us about his new gym which is located in the hotel: "Steam rooms, Sauna bath, massage, pool, complete gym facilities, expert supervision, and all utilities," he boasted, and looking directly at me, as I was using both hands to lift by third cup of coffee, "We are offering a one year membership for only $100." "Sounds great," I said, "but over a long period of time wouldn't such a low price put you out of business?" "Yes, it would, (and here comes the commercial), and that's why the offer is good only thru June 30. Needless to say, Gerry and I signed up. After all, what could beat a good massage and steam bath followed by a choice Caesars' salad or steak. A great combination, don't you agree?"

PACKS HOUSE . . . Swinging Jan Robles packs the house nightly at John and Cindy Pappas' elegant Mariner restaurant-motel in Pacific Coast Highway, Torrance. Choice steaks and salads highlight the menu.

RESTAURANT REVIEWS THE INDIAN VILLAGE
If you've never tasted fresh Chinook salmon, "dip-netted" from the Columbia River by the Yakima Indians in the state of Washington, then try this delectable fish specialty at the Smith Bros. Indian Village Restaurant in Torrance. "Mish-Nahma," the tribal name for salmon, is broiled here to peak succulence, garnished with piquant perfection and served with flair and great pride. The "dip-net" fishing technique of the northwest Indians, experts at scooping up salmon as they swim upstream to spawn, is the same method they employed during ancient times. The Indian Village is possibly the only Southland restaurant serving this daily-fresh, unbelievably delicious entree.

THE PLUSH HORSE
Terry Moore and her brood taking advantage of the magnificent Sunday brunch at the Plush Horse restaurant in Redondo Beach last Sunday . . . Sitting one booth away from Francis X. Bushman and his wife . . . Later on in the day, songstress Julie London, graciously sitting in with Marty Beaty's Sunday showtime guests. Julie had dinners leaving their tables to run to the lounge and hear by the end of her first number . . . and many of them stayed and stayed.
