

'Eensy, Beensy Spider' To Remain in Classrooms

Those "Eensy, Beensy Spider" records which have been the target of attack by some Torrance parents in recent weeks received what adds up to a clean bill of health from the Board of Education Monday evening.

Voting 3-1 with member William Hanson dissenting, the Board agreed to leave the disputed records in use and remove the stigma that may have been attached to them through the dispute.

Meeting in the Torrance High School cafeteria because of the many persons attending the session, the Board adopted a motion presented by member Bert M. Lynn and seconded by Dr. Donald Wilson. Nearly 150 persons were on hand for the hour-long discussion.

One Torrance resident, Barbara Lyle, defended the use of the material stating that a vote to retain the records would be "a vote for freedom, not communism." She added that critics could "hack away at all school materials bit by bit until nothing was left."

She was supported by Thirvin D. Fleetwood who said he personally disapproved of some of Abraham Lincoln's decisions.

"Will you remove him from the history books for me?" he asked the Board members.

A group of parents had protested that the company issuing the classroom material had been cited by a House Un-American Activities committee more than 15 years ago as a possibly subversive-front organization.

Investigations by the school district failed to bear out any of the current allegations, Board members were told.

Kenneth J. Freeman, whose mother, Mrs. Sue M. Freeman, resides at 20315 S. Denker St., has been promoted to airman 2/C in the U.S. Air Force at Oxnard AFB, Calif.

Airman Freeman is a weather observer in a unit that supports the Air Weather Service mission of operating a global weather data network in support of U.S. military and civilian flight activities.

A graduate of Narbonne High School, the airman attended Los Angeles Harbor College.

ILLNESSES NOTED

Three cases of gonorrhea and one each of mumps, scarlet fever, and syphilis were reported from the Torrance area for the week

... Studies

The council would define problems, carefully determine their scope and relative importance, find out what is already being done about them, consult with experts, study solutions found by other communities, and develop a comprehensive list of resources which might be used.

THE COUNCIL would examine the possible avenues of action pointed up by the study process, taking into account existing resources, community attitudes, other community projects, and sources of help from within and outside the community.

It would then set up short-range and long-range goals and a step-by-step timetable for their accomplishment.

"We hope to determine if there is a real need for such a council in Torrance," Vroman said, "and then make positive recommendations to the Chamber's Board of Directors on the structure and operation of the organization."

Groups and individuals are requested to contact the Chamber of Commerce if they are interested.
