Ray Watt Elevates Executive

The elevation of Richard C. Millward to the post of senior vice president of R. A. Watt, Inc., one of the nation's largest construction and land development firms, was announced today by President Ray Watt.

Millward, who has served as vice president - construction since 1960, was the first employe-partner of the parent corporation and has served in executive positions in all divisions with the exception of sales. In his newly created position, he will devote additional time to the supervision of the construction division's planning and quality control departments and the successful corporate on-the-job training program.

He will continue to direct the 24-man construction division with the exception of all single family, condominium, apartment, commercial, industrial, and mobile home units built by the corporation. Currently more than 2,000 home are under construction from Santa Barbara to San Clemente and two major industrial parks are under way in the greater Los Angeles area.

Millward, who resides in Westchester with his wife, Tess, and their eight children, is a graduate of many advanced construction and management courses conducted by the University of California and the National Association of Home Builders, of which he is a member. Many construction techniques and procedures currently adopted throughout the building industry were developed under his leadership.

He will continue to serve as a member of the Corporate Executive Committee and Community Concept Committee.

New Street Lights Due In Carson

Residents of three Carson area subdivision streets will receive seven new street lights in 1966, according to Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

The Board of Supervisors, following a public hearing on June 24, approved a recently petitioned proposal that Tract 18026 be annexed to the Dolores Lighting District for the purpose of installing the lights.

The tract is approximately bounded on the north by Fiat Street from westerly of Moneta Avenue to Caroldale Avenue and includes Archibald Avenue and the easterly half of Caroldale Avenue south of Fiat.

The Southern California Edison Co. will install seven new 7,000 lumen mercury vapor lights on six ornamental steel poles and one existing wood pole on the three streets. In addition, an eighth light will be installed on an existing wood pole on the northwest corner of the Fiat Street-Caroldale Avenue intersection.

The lights will be installed after the annexation becomes effective July 1, 1966.

In June Business Activity Declines

After moving at a record pace during the months of April and May, Southern California business activity hit a June snag, according to M. H. Eidsmoe, manager of Security First National Bank in Torrance.

As measured by the bank's business index, the local economy slipped to an estimated 142.0, down from the May peak of 144.1 (preliminary) and off 1.4 from the April 1965, reading. In the period a year ago, the bank's index stood at 142.5.

Bank clearings and department store sales, two of the bank's business indicators which paced the April and May advances, declined during June after adjustments for seasonal influences.

Also aiding the June decline was a slowdown of construction activity, Security Bank's report noted.

Real estate sales throughout the 14-county Southland area were slightly up for the month of June.

The bank's researchers pointed out that the current economic trend is still above the business activity reported for the first three months of 1965.

Employment in the Southern California metropolitan areas continued on the upside. Totalling approximately

Furniture Firm Begins Building

Civic leaders headed by Supervisor Burton Chace officiated at ground breaking ceremonies this week for Advance Furniture Manufacturing Co.'s new $600,000 facility in the 25-acre Vermont Industrial Park, adjacent to the Harbor Freeway at Sepulveda Boulevard.

Joining Chace in the official ceremonies were William S. Watt, executive vice president of R. A. Watt, Inc., developers of the South Bay's newest industrial park, President Sam Lippman, sons Robert and David Lippman, Vice President Richard Van Lehn of Advance Furniture and officials of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce.

The company, which manufactures a complete line of upholstered furniture, will employ over 100 in the new 72,000 square foot structure, built on a four-acre site with planned expansion to 90,000 square feet.

SPECIAL FEATURES of the all brick building include a 16-18 foot minimum truss height, a 15,000 square foot mill area, hi-density lighting, truck high loading and conveyorized materials handling equipment. A two-story, 6,000-square foot office and show room will feature an executive wing complete with full kitchen in addition to an employe lunch room.

Crown Associates, industrial realtors, represented both the seller and the buyer, reports Jon Overton, Industrial Division director for the Watt Corp. Stan Moore, construction administrator in charge of the industrial park, says that the structure will be ready for occupancy in early August.

American Announces New Rates

Customers at American Savings and Loan Association will earn increased interest on savings, according to Charles Wellman, president of the association. Wellman said the interest rate of 4.85 per cent has been compounded daily since July 1. The association also is paying interest to date of withdrawal on funds held six months or longer.

The changes will mean net earnings of 4.97 per cent on funds held for a year, Wellman said.

"American Savings is the first association in the industry's top five to pay this high rate of interest. Our daily interest means an increase in convenience as well as profit to our customers," he said.

The association, fifth largest in the nation, recently passed the $700 million mark in assets. The firm has 17 offices in Southern California.
