

Market to Sponsor Giant Clinic for Little Leagues

Alpha Beta Markets are sponsoring a spectacular free Little League Baseball Clinic for Little League players, their coaches, their managers, and their parents throughout all of Southern California in the new Anaheim Stadium on Saturday between 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

In previous years, Alpha Beta has sponsored district Little League Clinics, generally very successful, and the demand for them from Little League teams has become increasingly heavy as they are a benefit to all the young players and their coaches and managers. This year, because the California Angels now have their own ball park, Alpha Beta decided to have the one big clinic which could be attended by all Little Leaguers throughout the Southland.

BECAUSE OF THE attractiveness of having the 1966 Angels Little League Clinic at the Anaheim Stadium, it is anticipated that there will be a large turnout to see this free demonstration of baseball as it should be played.

The California Angels who will demonstrate the art of playing will be catcher Bob Rodgers, pitcher Bob Lee, second baseman Bob Knopp, third baseman Paul Schaal, and outfielders Jack Warner and Ed Kirkpatrick.
